

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES.

Vol. XI. No. 29

Gettysburg, Pa. Wednesday November 20 1912

Price Two Cents

New French Caps

New Roll Collar Sweaters

New Cloth Hats

A Complete Line of each of these winter necessities.
See our corner window.

ECKERT'S STORE

"On The Square" Since 1885.

WIZARD THEATRE

D. J. FORNEY—MANAGERS—N. S. HEINDLE

BIG SPECIAL SHOW TO-NIGHT 6 Reels 6000 Feet

MELIES BIOGRAPH VITAGRAPH ESSANAY LUBIN PATHE

THREE WESTERNS THREE DRAMAS

"THE MOTH and the FLAME"—Melies Western

Dick the son of a wealthy merchant wishing to marry a girl of his set, is obliged to break his engagement to Nancy the Inkeeper's daughter. Deeply in love with him, Nancy determines to win him back at all costs. Why she gave up her intention, and used every effort to keep Dick steadfast to his wife arouses sympathy from first to last.

"A CHANGE OF SPIRIT"—Biograph Drama

"THE RETURN OF BECKY"—Essanay

A wonderfully appealing heart interest drama with vital and original plot entwined about the life of a simple country lass. Beverly Bayne and Joseph Allen in splendid characterization.

"THE CONVALESCENT"—Lubin

With Arthur Johnson.

"THE ANCIENT BOW"—Vitagraph

A good Indian story.

"JEALOUSY ON THE RANCH"—Pathe Western Story

Show starts 6.30. Admission 5c. Follow the crowd to the "Wizard" to-night.

Thanksgiving Visitors

will have to be entertained, calls made and various other social functions considered. Have you thought about your personal appearance in connection with these matters?

Our Tailoring and Furnishing Department can supply your outfit.

WILLIAM M. SELIGMAN,
Tailor for Men and Women Haberdasher

NEW PHOTOPLAY

LUBIN WESTERN SELIG COMEDY PATHE WESTERN

THE NEW RANCH FOREMAN—Lubin Western

A new-comer is made foreman of the ranch, but when about to steal a large sum of money, is discovered to be a man who was hunted by the sheriff, and then he gets his just deserts.

BETTY FOOLS DEAR OLD DAD—Selig Comedy

A case where Betty tries to elope and finally succeeds, after her dad has caught her a few times and brought her back.

THE HAND OF DESTINY—Pathe Western

Falling from her horse, a young woman is married for life. Her husband soon becomes infatuated with another woman, but later he is stricken blind and spurned by the second woman, and then returns to his wife.

TWO WESTERNS AND A COMEDY.

Crisp, Clean-Cut Style

Characterizes Lippy Clothes

They combine the styles, fit and attractiveness that particular men want, and the sound materials and careful workmanship that means permanent satisfaction.

Your next Suit or Overcoat should have the Lippy stamp and you will see the difference.

J. D. LIPPY,

TAILOR.

SAVORY ROASTERS

You want a roaster for that Thanksgiving turkey. Buy a "Savory", self-basting, self-browning. There is no other roaster made to equal the "Savory". We have them from

98 cts to $3.00

Gettysburg Department Store.

Big Votes

Wednesday, November 20

on each box of Talcum purchased we will give 500 Votes in the Piano Contest.

Here is the chance to "boost" your standing, get your friends interested in your number.

People's Drug Store

and Huber's Drug Store

Great Reduction

Hats from 75 cents to $7.00 reduced. Also all Novelties.

The Misses Chritzman.

137 Baltimore Street.

NEGRO ENJOYED BRIEF FREEDOM

Two Hours after Charles Brown Leaves Jail he is again Sought by Local Officers and Arrested with Much Difficulty.

After enjoying just two hours of freedom after serving a thirty day sentence in the local county jail Charles Brown, colored, was again a subject for police discipline at 9.30 this morning and he was hauled to the bastille on the Kelly and Oyler coal wagon by Chief Shealer with the assistance of Irwin Kelly and Clinton Carter who acted as deputies for the occasion.

Brown had been a member of the state highway gang working between New Oxford and Gettysburg and several weeks ago was found to be acting disorderly about town. Squire Harsh sent him up for thirty days. During the time he served this sentence he received $9.98 from the highway contractor for back pay. With this amount he left jail at 7.30 this morning and at once started to celebrate.

He soon qualified for the drunk and disorderly class and the chief took him in hand. Brown became very violent and he was placed on the coal wagon after a lively tussle. At the jail he made a break to get away but the chief gave him treatment that subdued him for a few minutes. Brown resorted to biting tactics and profanity to show his wrath over the performance and later grasped a gallon jar of salt which he threw at the officers. Fortunately it missed its mark.

Brown was allowed to sober up before the matter of a hearing was given attention.

ARENDTSTOWN

Ira S. Orner, of this place, exhibited three large turkeys to your correspondent. They weighed 14 pounds and 9 ounces. The largest one weighed 6 pounds and 11 ounces.

Mack F. Carbaugh, who conducted an up-to-date barber shop in this place, has moved to Biglerville and John A. Weigle, who conducted the other shop, is confined to his room with a complication of diseases and has closed up his place of business. Now this town is without a barber.

Our farmers are about through husking corn and report a good crop. Samuel Bushman near this place got 2000 bushels of ear corn from 15 acres.

George R. Hartman, executor of the estate of Mrs. Solomon Hartman, deceased, sold her house and lot in this place to William Lady, of Franklin township, for $860. Possession April 1st.

Mrs. David G. Minter has returned from a week's visit among friends in Millersville and through Lancaster county.

Miss Edith Wolff, of Spring Run, is a guest in the home of her brother, Dr. Wm. E. Wolff, in this place.

Mrs. Vera G. Brougier, of Wenksville, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Trostel and other friends in this town.

Miss Celia Arendt is attending the teachers institute at Gettysburg and visiting relatives in New Oxford.

TO INSTALL PASTOR

Rev. George Nicely will be installed at Hanover December First.

Formal announcement of the acceptance of the call extended to the Rev. George W. Nicely, of the St. Matthew's Lutheran church, Reading, was made by Rev. Dr. Coover in St. Mark's Lutheran church, Hanover. Rev. Mr. Nicely will enter upon the pastorate Sunday, December 1, and will be installed at the morning service. The installation service will be conducted under direction of the Rev. Dr. George M. Diffenderfer, president of the West Pennsylvania synod; Rev. Dr. M. Coover, of the Gettysburg Seminary, and Rev. Dr. E. D. Weigle, of Camp Hill, near Harrisburg, father-in-law of Rev. Mr. Nicely.

ATTENTION: church societies. It may interest church, and other societies, to know that money can be made by saving old papers, magazines, etc. If members will send what they may have to the society's rooms or some other designated place so that a fair size quantity may accumulate at one point, one shipment may be made to Schmidt & Ault Paper Co., York, Pa., who will pay the highest cash price for same. Write or telephone for particulars. Advertisement.

ABSOLUTELY free for the month of November. All persons 65 years or over given a sitting and one of our best photos. Battlefield Photo Co., South Stratton street. Advertisement.

WANTED: middle aged woman. General housework. Good wages. Within half mile of town. Address Box 71, Gettysburg.—advertisement.

MANY TAKEN BY HAND OF DEATH

Mrs. Harvey A. Scott Died Suddenly at the Home of her Sister in Fairfield. Deaths in the Lower End of the County.

MRS. HARVEY A. SCOTT
Mrs. Harvey A. Scott died suddenly about eight o'clock this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Robert Neely, in Fairfield, aged 25 years. The cause of death was paralysis.

Mrs. Scott had been ill for about three months. She spent a short while in the Lancaster hospital and for the past six weeks had been undergoing treatment in Hagerstown. She returned to Fairfield on Tuesday evening and was thought to be very much improved. This morning she was taken very suddenly ill and a physician was summoned but she died before he arrived.

Mrs. Scott's maiden name was Miss Alice Stonebraker and she was a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Stonebraker who for many years lived in Fairfield. Mr. Stonebraker serving the McKnightstown Reformed charge. Miss Stonebraker and Mr. Scott were married four years ago and had been living in Freedom township ever since. She was widely known in Gettysburg and the western end of the county and had a host of friends.

She leaves her parents, who now reside at Quarryville, Lancaster County, her husband, and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Neely, of Fairfield, and Miss Mary Stonebraker, of Quarryville.

Funeral Friday morning from her late home in Freedom township.

MRS. MICHAEL LIVINGSTON

Mrs. Sallie Livingston, wife of Michael Livingston, died at the family residence in New Oxford, Monday, from nervous prostration, after an illness of several months. She was aged 34 years, 2 months and 24 days. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Steinhour, of near Arendtsville, and was married to Michael Livingston about 37 years ago. Beside her husband she leaves two daughters, Mrs. George Hensel, of New Oxford; Miss Ruth Livingston, at home, and I. W. Livingston, of New Oxford. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. E. J. Harman, of New Oxford, and Mrs. William Shearer, of near that place; also two brothers, Levi and William Steinhour, of near Arendtsville.

Funeral Wednesday, Nov. 20, services at the house at 1 p. m., further services in the First Lutheran church, Rev. C. W. Baker officiating. Interment in the New Oxford cemetery.

MRS. ELIAS WALTMAN

Mrs. Elias Waltman died at her home in Baltimore, Monday, from a complication of diseases. Her age was about 62 years.

Mrs. Waltman's maiden name was Miss Julia Miller, daughter of Henry Miller, who, many years ago, published the Littlestown News. She moved with her husband and family to Baltimore 25 years ago.

She is survived by her husband, two sons and four daughters, all residing in Baltimore. She is also survived by one brother, John Miller, of Gettysburg, and a step-sister, Miss Ida Miller, living in the West.

MRS. MARY ANN KALE

After an illness of three days Mrs. Mary Ann Kale, widow of the late Jacob Kale, died at her home at Mt. Pleasant, Conewago township, on Monday, at 2.30 p. m. Her age was 79 years, 7 months and 14 days.

Mrs. Kale was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weaver, who reside near White Hall. Her husband died five years ago. She is survived by two sons and four daughters as follows: Jacob Kale, of Pennsylvania; Mrs. Joseph McCann, and Mrs. Sebastian Weaver, of McSherrytown; Mrs. John Scheivert, of Hanover; Mrs. Henry Sell, of Conowago township, and Joseph Kale, at home.

Funeral Wednesday, November 20, requiem mass in St. Joseph's church, Hanover at 9 a. m., Rev. J. A. Huber officiating. Interment in St. Joseph's cemetery.

WANTED: a sexton for the Methodist Episcopal church. Apply by letter to Board of Trustees, 304 Baltimore street.—advertisement.

LOST: gold locket and chain. Monogram B. J. F. Finder please return to Times office.—advertisement.

REVIVAL services. Rev. Thomas of United Brethren church Biglerville, will have Evangelist E. J. Renshaw to conduct a series of meetings beginning Nov. 25. A heroic speaker also a forceful singer. Everybody cordially invited.—advertisement.

IMPORTED Pilsner beer on draught Hotel Gettysburg. advertisement.

SPARE THE ROD, SAY INSTRUCTORS

Pupils who Require Physical Punishment become Individuals who are Dangerous to Society. Institute News.

During the present teachers' institute a number of the instructors have taken occasion to discourage the use of the rod in carrying on the disciplinary end of their schools but the most vigorous denunciation of the practice was made this morning by Prof. C. F. Sanders, who said:

"It is easier to use the rod and enforce obedience in that way than to inspire pupils to a sense of what is right and what is wrong. Welding the rod is purely a mechanical process and the boy coerced into obedience by this means is likely to become the sort of individual who shoots presidents and kings. He will be at odds with society and indulge a grudge against authority which he may vent on some individual."

"I do not care to enter into the matter of whether or not 'corporal punishment' is necessary but I do say that whenever we resort to it, either in the schools or in courts of justice, we acknowledge defeat. A severe physical measure is a last resort in society at large and much more so in an educational institution. It is a confession of failure when we send a man to the electric chair and a teacher confesses every time that he is a pedagogical failure as regards a certain pupil when he finds it necessary to resort to physical punishment to bring about obedience."

"The successful teacher is one who so inspires the boys and girls in the school with good principles that they will not only fail to be enemies to the cause of discipline but will be positive contributors to the welfare of society."

"What makes the little tyrant on the playground what he is? He thinks that he is a supreme law unto himself. Let him know that he is only a part of the show and that the performance can only come off properly when each plays his part. Educate and inspire the children and a far better result will be obtained than with the use of a physical measure."

Much of practical benefit is being given the teachers at the various sessions and the lectures are so interesting that many others attend. The singing is good and the day sessions are proving very attractive.

Tuesday evening's concert by the Iroquois Indian Orchestra was very much enjoyed by a large audience. The music was very well rendered and the usual features of a concert by such an organization contributed not a little to the entertainment. An Indian wedding was one of the most appreciated numbers.

TO GET LIGHT

Emmitsburg Citizens Arrange for Electricity from Security.

A corporation of Emmitsburg men has been formed to supply the municipality with electrical current furnished by the Frederick and Hagerstown power plant, nearing completion at Security.

Emmitsburg is the second town in Western Maryland to make a contract with the power company to furnish the town and their residents with electricity, the other being Smithsburg. Myersville is also considering the proposition and it is expected that steps will soon be taken there to consummate the deal.

The Emmitsburg company has a capital stock of $6,000, divided into 600 shares of $10 each. The incorporators are Dr. J. B. Brauner, Dr. D. E. Stone, Annan Houser and A. M. Patterson. It is expected that virtually all the shares of the company will be sold in Emmitsburg.

PLAY PARTY

Home of George Hare Scene of Pleasant Social Gathering.

A very enjoyable play party was given at the home of George Hare on Monday evening. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. George Hare, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hartzell, Richard Taylor, Mrs. Charles Lawver, Misses Annie Deardorff, Hazel Sites, Laura Wilson, Ruth Hare, Katie Deardorff, Ruth Sites, Susan Deardorff, Bernadette Deardorff, Grace Hare, Ruth Lawver, Marian Hare, Catharine Lawver, Mesrs. Le Ter Deardorff, John Mickley, Roy Mickley, Clyde Wilson, Howard Deardorff, Curtis Kint, Mervin Trostle, Roy Mackley, Roy Taylor, James Sites, Charles Hare, Clair Hartzell, Raymond Hare, Donald Lawver.

REVIVAL services. Rev. Thomas of United Brethren church Biglerville, will have Evangelist E. J. Renshaw to conduct a series of meetings beginning Nov. 25. A heroic speaker also a forceful singer. Everybody cordially invited.—advertisement.

MANY DEER CAMP STORIES ARE TOLD

Thirty Eight Hunters Chase One Deer. Shoots at Deer and Hits Wild Cat. Bucks Shot. Many are Successful.

Fine hunting stories are coming in from the deer camps, some of them taxing considerably the credulity of the people who hear them.

Daniel Rinehart, member of the Monterey hunt club, had a chance at a buck, and wounded the animal, but it got away. Mr. Rinehart was on his knees in the bushes when he espied a big buck. He could only see its feet and a portion of its body. It was, at that time, only 30 yards away.

He would not shoot then for fear it might be a doe, and, when the deer began to run through the bushes, Mr. Rinehart ran to a place where the animal would come out into the clearing, and, when it appeared, he fired. The deer was struck and knocked down, and when it jumped to its feet, he fired again, but his shot went wild. He trailed it for quite a distance and could see large pools of blood every few yards.

Other members of the Monterey club, together with members of a club from Adams county, tramped the mountain in that vicinity all the afternoon with the hope of capturing it, but failed to get sight of it again. Thirty-eight persons were engaged in the search. It is thought that some hunters came across it in the bushes and spirited it away.

Charles Woodward, of Waynesboro, killed a six-prong, 165 pound buck at Caledonia.

A ten-prong buck was killed by Percy Shover, Blue Ridge Summit, a member of the Monterey club, Monday. It weighed about 200 pounds.

Amos Crist, of Chambersburg, shot a 3-prong buck weighing 125 pounds.

A tale of interest, whether or not it be authentic comes from the Sport club and concerns Harry Lick, of Waynesboro. Mr. Lick, the story goes, spent Monday hunting with the Sport club. He shot a nine-prong buck. The bullet passed through the animal's neck and lodged in the shoulder of a wildcat. The infuriated cat came for Lick and the pair showed rare speed for two miles, the distance to the camp. Mr. Lick unfortunately lost his gun and considerable wearing apparel during the moments which elapsed between the crack of the gun and his arrival in camp.

At a camp near Pine Grove, T. C. Lickel and M. H. Howard, of Steelton, killed a three prong deer that weighed 105 pounds dressed. Another report from Pine Grove Furnace where the Long Mountain Club is in camp states that the club members secured two fine bucks the day of the opening of the season. One weighed 200 pounds and the other 190 pounds. The club is composed of twenty members, expert marksmen, and experienced rangers.

BIG PARADE

Littlestown's Political Demonstration Better than Gettysburg's.

Littlestown's Democratic parade on Tuesday evening eclipsed Gettysburg's effort of some days previous and proved an elaborate affair. There were many floats in line and they were unusually well gotten up. A number of bands added to the success of the affair and the inscriptions on the banners were very personal and to the point. The Citizens' Band of Gettysburg and a number of people from this place participated in the parade while others went to the lower end town as spectators.

Allan Plank received the $5 prize for the best float in line it was the same one that he had in the Gettysburg parade. With Mr. Plank were Messrs. Thorn, Wierman, Sheely and Smith.

DAVID GARRICK

Delightful English Play to be Given before Teachers.

Wednesday evening's Institute attraction will be "David Garrick", played by Clifton Mallory and company. Of the play the Geneva, New York, Times says: "Smith Opera House was packed from orchestra rail to gallery last evening to witness the production of David Garrick by Clifton Mallory. From the hearty rounds of applause that repeatedly arose from the audience it was evident that they were pleased with the production. Not only did the production make a favorable impression on the general auditors, but it also appealed to Manager Hardison of the theatre sufficiently for him to make arrangements for a repetition."—Advertisement.

ARENDTSTOWN: a food sale will be held for the benefit of the Grammar school, Saturday afternoon and evening, November 30th. All are cordially invited.—advertisement.

PERSONAL NOTES AND BRIEF ITEMS

Paragraphs of News Telling of the Happenings in and about Town. People Visiting here and those Sojourning Elsewhere.

Miss Florence Minnick, and Miss Harris, of Baltimore, are spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Minnick, West Middle street.

Mrs. W. K. Fleck, of Fairfield, spent the day with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Sheads, on West Middle street.

George G. Hollinger, of Abbotstown, spent Tuesday night with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Smith, of Williamsport, and Mrs. Sara J. Lutz, of Newport, are visitors at the home of Rev. and Mrs. L. Dow Ott.

Miss Gail Greenawalt has returned to Chambersburg after a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brehm.

Mrs. C. B. Stouffer entertained at dinner at her home on Lincoln avenue Tuesday evening.

J. E. Shindlecker brought to town a turkey weighing thirty two and a half pounds.

Miss Grace Bowers has returned to her home in Harrisburg after a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. U. C. Everhart on Baltimore street.

George D. Thorn has been ill at his home in Harrisburg for several days, according to the "Telegraph" of that city.

The teachers at county institute heard the story of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address from Prof. Sowers on Tuesday. Then they all arose and repeated the famous oration.

William Shatzer, a trusty in Franklin county jail, escaped by going over the wall and has not been recaptured. The man had opportunity to leave by a front door but took the other means of escape.

CHOIR DINNER

St. James Choir Given Turkey Dinner by Church Council.

St. James Choir responded to an invitation to supper at the parsonage Tuesday evening and found that they were really wanted in the social hall of the church where the council had furnished an elaborate turkey dinner. A beautifully laid table confronted the surprised singers when they entered the room and after passing down the receiving line of church councilmen they stayed to enjoy the feast which had been prepared under the direction of members of the Mite Society. A jolly time was spent and after the dinner Rev. Mr. Baker, acting as toastmaster, called on a number for short speeches which were also enjoyed. The choir were very enthusiastic over the manner in which the guardians of the church had shown appreciation of their services.

WAGAMAN—MELHORN

At a nuptial high mass in St. Joseph's Catholic church, Bonneauville, Tuesday morning Miss Dorothy Marie Melhorn, of New Oxford and Harry J. Wagaman of Bonneauville were married by Rev. Father McIlben, pastor of the Catholic church at that place. They were attended by Miss Louise Billman, of New Oxford, and Bernard Wagaman, brother of the groom.

The bride wore a steel colored suit with hat to match, and carried a shower bouquet of chrysanthemums. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Melhorn, of New Oxford. The groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Wagaman, of Bonneauville where a reception was tendered Tuesday evening. They received many and handsome presents. The newly wedded couple will make their home with the groom's parents for the present.

ENJOYED SHOW

Seven Hours Pleased Large Audience in Local Theatre.

One of the Wizard's capacity houses enjoyed "Seven Hours in New York" Tuesday evening. The attraction is a small edition—very small, indeed—of a fully equipped musical comedy—but what was there was good. The chorus was composed of exactly eight "broilers" who could dance well and sing with some volume. The comedy was well taken care of, the costumes were new and numerous, and the show voted a success.

MILLINERY specials. Silk velvet black hats $2.00 black beavers $2.98 and $3.50 Regular $2.00 felt hoods $1.50, children's hats accordingly low priced, also trimmings. Mrs. D. J. Riele, Chambersburg street, First National Bank Building, basement. Advertisement.

LOST: a shawl between Gettysburg and Littlestown, by way of Bonneauville. Return to Times office.—advertisement.

THE GETTYSBURG TIMES

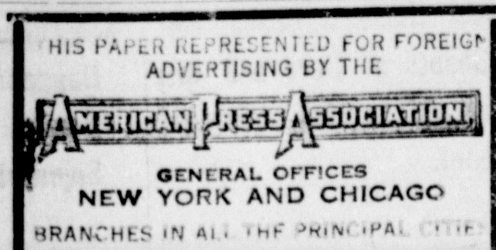

PUBLISHED DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY
Times and News Publishing Company
W. LAVERE HAFER, Secretary and Treasurer.
PHILIP R. BIKLE, Editor.
PHILIP R. BIKLE, President.

SUBSCRIPTION Served by carrier in Gettysburg for 25 cents per month.
RATES Mailed outside of Gettysburg for 25 cents per month.
Single copies to non-subscribers, 2 cents.

IF you receive THE TIMES by mail you can find the date up to which you are paid on the pink address label on your paper. The date will be changed within ten days after your money is received at The Times Office.

Entered August 15, 1904, at Gettysburg, Pa., as second-class matter, under Congress March 3, 1879.

BELL PHONE UNITED PHONE
Office in Northwest corner of Centre Square, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

Want ads. 1 cent per word for first insertion and one-half cent per word for each additional insertion. Resolutions of respect, poetry and memorials 1 cent per word.

TO OUR READERS

The Gettysburg Times takes absolutely no part in politics, being neutral on all such matters. Anything that appears in general news columns, concerning state or national politics, is furnished us by the American Press Association, a concern which gives the same news to Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, or Socialist papers and which is strictly non-partisan.

SHOES

Fall and Winter Stock

48 cts., 98 cts., $1.48,
$1.95 up to $4.50.

C. B. KITZMILLER

Advertisement.

Effective October 27.

THE WESTERN MARYLAND RAILWAY

8:41 A. M. Daily Except Sunday for Baltimore, Hanover, York and Intermediate Points.
10:08 A. M. Daily for Hagerstown, Waynesboro, Chambersburg, Hancock, Cumberland, Elkins and Points West.
1:00 P. M. Daily for York & Intermediate points, York, and Intermediate Points.
5:48 P. M. daily Except Sunday for B. and H. Division Points to Highfield, also Hagerstown, Waynesboro, Chambersburg, Shippensburg and Hancock, Pittsburg and all points west.

Sunday Only
8:40 P. M. for New Oxford, Hanover, York, Baltimore and intermediate stations.

Advertisement.

FARM for rent in Straban township. One hundred acres. Inquire of W. A. Taughinbaugh, real estate agent.

Advertisement.

PRIVATE SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

The undersigned offers his farm for sale, situated midway between Jernsey station on the P. & R. railroad and Centre Mills, 1-2 mile from each place containing 23 acres of good and improved with a good two-story rick house, barn and necessary out-buildings, goodwill of water, 25 bearing apple trees and other land suitable for fruit purposes. For further information call on or address BROUGH BUSHEY, Guernsey, Pa.

DON'T forget the free offer of the Battlefield Photo Co. Advertisement.

White Flame
Full, clear—never flickers
FAMILY FAVORITE
The Best Lamp Oil
At Your Dealers.
For the sake of the family's eyes.
FREE—20 page book—all about oil.
WAVERLY OIL WORKS CO.
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Gasolene Lubricants

Advertisement.

GETTYSBURG MARKETS

Prices at the Gettysburg warehouse corrected daily by C. Milton Wolf, Jr., Successor to J. Geo. Wolf's Sons Co.

Per Bu.
New Dry Wheat $1.35
New Ear Corn 50
Rye 70
New Oats 35

RETAIL PRICES

Per 100
Badger Dairy Feed $1.35
Coarse Spring Bran 1.35
Hand Packed Bran 1.40
Cotton Seed Meal 1.65
Corn and Oats Chop 1.60
White Middlings 1.70
Red Middlings 1.50
Timothy Hay85
Rye Chop 1.70
Baled Straw65
Plaster $7.00 per ton.
Cement $1.40 per bbl.
Per bbl.
Flour $4.30
Western Flour 4.40
Wheat $1.10
New Ear Corn60
Shelled Corn90
New Oats45
Western Oats45
New York Market—Hennery White
Fancy Eggs, 55 and 60 cents.

Advertisement.

FARM FOR SALE

The undersigned Executor of John Hammers, deceased, late of Highland township, Pa., will sell at private sale the farm 34 miles West of Gettysburg, called the "Sunnyside" Farm, containing about 100 acres, about 80 acres of land clean as any garden, the rest is growing tall timber, poplar, oak and hickory. This farm can be bought cheap, part of the money can remain in the property. The interest in 20 acres of growing grain can go with the sale. Fruit experts say there is no land without in the county better adapted for fruit than this farm. This farm planted in apple and peach would bring $10,000, in a few years.

If not sold by January 1, 1913, it will be for rent. Farms all around this are asking from $2,000 to $3,000 more than asked for this farm. This farm now produces as good crops without lime and fertilizers, as farms of like size do with, which speaks well for the soil.

S. S. W. HAMMERS, Executor.

FARMERS' DAY

Farmers' day is no new thing at Hammers' store at Marsh Creek. Daily for the past 20 years the farmers have saved money. 6,000 60 and 70 cent shells have been sold by Hammers this season at 40 and 50 cents per box. The best 8 cent folder yarn Hammers sold at 64 cents. Nine barrels of sugar in 3 weeks at 52 and 54 cents, other stores sold the same make sugar at 6 and 6 1/2 cents. One farmer was asked $24 for wire to line his corn crib, at Hammers he bought the same wire for $17.

Farmers, Day every day at HAMMERS.

MOVE TO END WAR TAKEN BY ALLIES

Agree to Arrange Armistice and Peace Terms.

ENVOYS HAVE BEEN NAMED

Stubborn Defense of Tchatalja and Outbreak of Cholera Among Bulgarian Troops Hastened Decision.

London, Nov. 20.—The nations of the Balkan confederacy, satiated with victory, signified their willingness to treat for terms of peace at the request of the vanquished Turkish empire.

The luster of their success has been only slightly dimmed by their temporary failure to overcome the rallied Turkish army at the gates of Constantinople and enter the Ottoman capital.

The stubborn defense encountered by the Bulgarians at the line of fortifications at Tchatalja and the realization that enormous slaughter would be necessary to pierce them at the point of the bayonet, with every prospect that their ranks would be decimated by cholera before they had attained success, doubtless proved deciding factors in inducing the conquerors to listen to the urgings of the great powers and refrain from pressing home their victory to the Turkish capital until they had presented terms of surrender to the vanquished and had met with a refusal of their acceptance.

Simultaneously with the dispatch to the Turkish grand vizier of their agreement to appoint peace plenipotentiaries the allied Balkan nations notified the European powers of the step they had taken and thanked them for their offer of mediation. They added that mediation was no longer necessary, as the Porte had addressed itself directly to the Balkan states, which would now treat with Turkey without outside intervention.

The reply to the dispatch of the Turkish grand vizier to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria says:

"The Bulgarian government, after agreements with the allied cabinets of Serbia, Montenegro and Greece, informs the Porte that plenipotentiaries have been appointed with instructions to arrange with the commander-in-chief of the Turkish armies the conditions of an armistice and subsequently to proceed to the conclusion of peace."

"That the terms of the victors will be drastic is known, but the European powers are doing their utmost to make them less harsh than at first mooted, without attempting to rob the Balkan confederacy of the fruits of its month's war."

With the jealous eyes of Russia on Constantinople, with the recrudescence of the Austro-Serbian difficulty on the other side of what has been known as European Turkey, and with Roumania inquiring what she may expect out of the spoils, there seems to observers to be every inducement for the allied Balkan nations to keep their demands within moderate limits.

An eight hours' armistice has been agreed to between the Bulgarians and Turks at Tchatalja, so that both the armies may bury their dead, according to a news agency dispatch from Constantinople.

Admission that cholera has broken out in the Bulgarian army attacking the Constantinople defenses was made by the Bulgarian government for the first time.

Premier Guechoff said that General Saffov had established a cholera camp removed from the army and that every precaution was being taken to prevent serious inroads from the disease.

The occupation of Alessio by the combined Serbian and Montenegrin armies, giving them another foothold on the Adriatic sea, is considered in diplomatic circles likely to add fuel to the flames of the Austro-Serbian disputes which have again blazed up in a critical way.

Emperor Francis Joseph is reported to have remarked: "We are in favor of peace, but not of peace at any price. We cannot stand everything."

The Austro-Hungarian cabinet has sent a sharp note to the Serbian government at Belgrade, demanding a precise reply to all the questions at issue.

RESPIRE FOR THE ALLENS

Governor Stays Execution of Outlaws to Dec. 13.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 20.—Governor Mann, of Virginia, respite until Dec. 13 Floyd Allen and his son, Claude Swanson Allen, both condemned to die on Friday for their complicity in the murders at Judge Massie's court room in Hillsville, Va. The stay was unexpected.

Corset Steel Saves Life.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 20.—Mrs. Mollie Siegler, twenty-eight years old, who was shot and badly wounded by her lover, Charles Garner, twenty-six years old, of Washington, who afterwards committed suicide, will recover, was declared by physicians, who say that her life was saved by a corset steel, which deflected the bullet.

Senator Rayner Better.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Senator Rayner, of Maryland, was somewhat better. He was able to sit up in bed half an hour and took some nourishment.

Butterick Agency

The agency for the BUTTERICK PATTERNS has been removed from the store of Ferdinand Warner to Miss Hollebaugh's 18 Balto. St., Gettysburg, Pa.

WAR SCENES.

Bulgarian Aviator Who Flew Over Adrianople; Soldiers at Spring.

Photos by American Press Association.

SCHRANK, WHO SHOT T. R., IS INSANE

"Leak" in 'Alienists' Report Stirs Court.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 20.—John Schrank, the New York man who shot Colonel Roosevelt here on the night of Oct. 14, was found to be insane by the commission of five alienists appointed to inquire into his mental state, according to a report circulated in Milwaukee.

Judge Backus, who named the commission, denied that the commission had finished its work.

"If any member of the commission has given out advance information to the effect that Schrank has been held to be insane," he said, "I shall adjudge him to be in contempt of court."

It was learned from another source that the information that Schrank had been found insane came from the district attorney's office.

The decision of the doctors was said to be unanimous. It means that Schrank cannot be tried for the attempt to murder Roosevelt, but that he will be committed to the Northern Hospital for the Insane at Oshkosh.

Schrank may remain in the asylum for the rest of his life, as he cannot be released unless it is shown that he is cured and will not be subject again to an attack like that which caused him to attempt Roosevelt's life.

DIES DURING INITIATION

Young Man, Suffering With a Weak Heart, Expires During "Horse Play."

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 20.—The authorities are investigating the death of Zadock Trossell, Officer, twenty-two years old, unmarried, which occurred during the initiation of the young man into the Loyal Order of Moose at Westernport, this county, five miles west of Keyser.

While members of the organization are reticent, it is stated that the death of the young man occurred suddenly during some "horse play" in the initiation, when an electric battery was used.

It is stated that the candidate was in the process of being "branded" on the chest, when he expired from excitement, he having suffered from a weak heart.

GRAFT DOG SKIN ON WOMAN

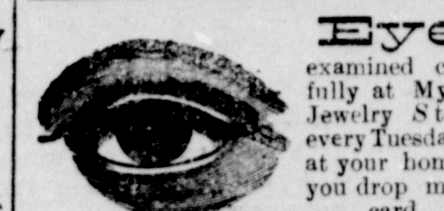

Wound on Arm Heals and Terrier Becomes Pet.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—Announcement was made at a South Side hospital of the successful outcome of a case of skin grafting in which a large piece of the skin of a skye terrier was placed over a wound on the arm of Mrs. H. W. Johnson, of Menominee, Wis.

The operation, said to be the first of its kind ever performed, took place ten days ago, and Tuesday Mrs. Johnson returned to her home, taking with her the dog which had contributed to her convalescence.

$85,000 For Artificial Legs.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The surgeon general of the army estimates that $85,000 will be required for the purchase of artificial limbs and apparatus during the coming year. Last year ninety-four artificial legs, one foot and five arms were distributed to afflicted soldiers. Under the act of congress of June, 1879, and subsequent amendments, 23,527 disabled soldiers and sailors have been furnished artificial limbs or apparatus or have received compensation in money.

W. H. DINKLE, Graduate of Optics Advertisement.

FOR SALE: one heavy draft horse. S. G. Bigham, Biglerville, Pa.—advertisement.

GUNMEN GUILTY IN FIRST DEGREE

Quickly Convicted of Slaying Rosenthal, the Gambler.

HURY WAS OUT AN HOUR

The Four Young Men Were Unmoved When They Heard the Verdict of the Jury.

New York, Nov. 20.—Harry Horowitz ("Gyp the Blood"), Louis Rosenberg ("Lettie Louie"), Frank Crolic ("Dago Frank") and Frank Muller ("Whitey Lewis"), the four young men charged with the assassination of Herman Rosenthal on the morning of July 19 last, were found guilty of murder in the first degree by a jury in the criminal branch of the supreme court. The jury was out just one hour.

Justice Goff then remanded the prisoners for sentence. The entire proceeding in court after the jury came out occupied only seven minutes. The gunmen were brought in by four prison wardens and a uniformed policeman. They heard the verdict with faces unmoved, staring straight ahead.

On the way back to their cells the convicted men, except "Whitey Lewis," walked erect; Lewis went with bowed head. The crowd in the court room received the verdict without visible excitement when it reached the throng outside the building.

Those who heard Justice Goff's charge expected a severe verdict. Although maintaining strict legal impartiality, he brought out facts from the testimony which were damaging to the defense.

The verdict against the gunmen was a severe blow to the case of former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, whose hopes of a new trial were based on a possible acquittal of the gunmen. He is now in Sing Sing, sentenced to the electric chair for having instigated the murder.

Becker was alleged to have hired the gunmen through Jack Rose, the state's chief witness, to put Rosenthal, the "squealing gambler," out of the way. The verdict against the gunmen carries with it a penalty of death in the electric chair.

Mr. Wable, counsel for the young gangsters, announced after hearing the verdict that he would continue to fight the cases and attempt to get another trial.

The quick verdict came as a surprise to everybody. The jury in the case of Charles Becker deliberated for nearly seven hours before reaching a verdict.

For more than three hours Supreme Court Justice Goff charged the jury before it retired. "If the state's in former committed the crime, as the defense contends," he asked, "was it reasonable to assume that the informers would invite the gunmen as witnesses?"

"If Jack Rose had lied," he said, "in swearing that the gunmen did the shooting, why then did he not go further and swear that he had actually seen the shooting at the hands of the defendants? These are circumstances for you to consider," cautioned the court.

As in the charge to the Becker jury, Justice Goff ruled that Rose, Valerio and Webber were accomplices. Sam Schepps' status he left for the jurors to decide. "There is nothing in the law," he added, "to prevent your giving full credence to the testimony of Rose."

WATSON MUST STAND TRIAL

Indicted For Sending Obscene Matter Through the Mails.

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 20.—Thomas Watson, former Populist candidate for president and congressman from the Tenth Georgia district, must face trial in the federal court at Augusta next March on the charge of sending obscene matter through the mails.

The federal grand jury, which is now in session at Augusta, returned an indictment against Mr. Watson. Several months ago Watson was arrested on a United States warrant charging that he had sent matter of an obscene nature through the mails, and he was bound over under a $200 bond to await the action of the federal grand jury.

In connection with his villainial acts of the Roman Catholic church, Watson used some quotations from a copyrighted book which the government's attorney considered obscene. Watson pleaded that the book was copyrighted and had been sent through the mail for years without protest from the postoffice department, and he was being discriminated against.

The alleged obscene matter related to questions which Watson charges are asked by Roman Catholic priests of women in the confessional box.

Resigns as Money Prober.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Edgar H. Farrar, of New Orleans, sent by telegram to Chairman Pujo his resignation as associate counsel for the house banking and currency committee in the conduct of the so-called "money trust" investigation. His principal reason was that he was unable to spare time from his own affairs to serve the committee, with Samuel Untermyer, of New York, as counsel.

R. H. Bushman Cleaner and Presser

46 Chambersburg St. Gettysburg, Pa.

Medical Advertising

AFTER COUGHING MONTHS

Brooklyn, N. Y. Woman Found Relief in Vinol.

Did you ever cough for a week? Then just think how distressing it must be to have a cough hang on for three months.

Mrs. Maria Primrose of 87 Newell street, Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I had a very heavy cold which settled into a chronic cough which kept me awake nights for fully three months, and felt tired all the time because my rest was broken. The effect of taking your cod liver and iron remedy Vinol is that my cough is gone. I can now get a good night's rest and feel much stronger in every way."

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements cod's livers aided by blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient for chronic coughs, colds, and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa.

P. S. If you have any skin trouble try Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

Advertisement.

WORLD'S GREATEST CATARRH REMEDY

Just breathe Beech's HYOMEI for five minutes and the penetrating antiseptic air from the Eucalyptus forests of Australia will soothe the sore Catarrhal membrane and give wonderful relief. Being such an efficient remedy; absolutely free from harmful drugs, The People's Drug Store is willing at the maker's request to guarantee HYOMEI for Catarrh, Croup, Catarrhal Deafness, Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat and Bronchitis or money back. The little book in each package tells how simple it is to get rid of all these distressing diseases. Complete HYOMEI outfit including pocket inhaler, $1.00; extra bottles, 50 cents at dealers everywhere.

It's A Cure That's Sure

FOR RHEUMATISM, GOUT, SCIATICA, AND LUMBAGO

We have cured thousands with

JONES BREAK-UP AND IT WILL CURE YOU Always in stock at

H. C. Landau's Opposite Eagle Hotel. Ed. T. Aufer New Oxford, Pa.

Public Sale

On Saturday, December 7, 1912. The undersigned having sold his farm will sell at public sale in Franklin township on the road leading from Arden'sville to Cashtown known as the Lewis Carbaugh farm the following personal property:

One black mare six years old will work wherever hitched and fearless of all objects and safe for any woman to drive and is also a number one truck team; one sorrel mare rising two years old, gentle to handle; one Guernsey cow carrying her fourth calf, will be fresh in January; two fat hogs; good one horse wagon, good dayton wagon, falling top buggy, 15 tooth wheel harrow, sulkey corn plow, single corn plow, single shovel plow, 84 raise long plow, 5/2, good as new, one horse Oliver Chilled plow, No. 10, good as new, these plows have only been used 3 seasons, horse rake, Portland cutter, one horse hay carriage, corn planter, line seed, one horse drag, double ladder, step ladder, grindstone, terra cotta pipes, scythe and snaths, barbed head, cross cut saw, cross bar, pick and mattock, two vinegar barrels, single and double tree's, pitch and shaking forks, hand rake, locus post, one set of Yankee harness, two sets of buggy harness, buggy flynets, leather check lines, rope check lines can be used for binder, collars, bridles and halters, over three hundred feet of wire netting, also a lot of household goods, consisting of a No. 7 good range, one chunk stove, ten plate stove, a lot of stove pipe, a half dozen plank bottom chairs, one good walnut table, churn and buck, a lot of stove coal, meat bench, potatoes by the bushel and other articles not herein mentioned.

Sale to begin at 12:30 p. m., rain or shine, a credit of nine months will be given on all sums of $5 and over.

Ira Taylor, aucr. Wm. F. Hankey.

PUBLIC SALE

Of Valuable Town Property.

On Saturday, December 7th, 1912, the undersigned, by virtue of an order of the Orphans' Court of Adams County, to him directed, will expose at public sale on the premises:

All that lot of ground, situate in on the East side of Carlisle street, thirty feet, more or less, adjoining on the North, lot of June F. Tipton, on the South lot of E. M. Bender and on the East a public alley, having a depth from Carlisle street of one hundred and forty-two feet, more or less. The lot is improved with a two and one-half story brick house with a two story L. attached. The house contains four rooms on the first floor, five rooms and a bath on the second floor, and three rooms on the third floor.

Anyone desiring to examine the premises may call on the undersigned.

Sale to begin at 1 o'clock p. m., on the premises, at which time and place the conditions thereof will be made known by

D. P. McPHERSON, Trustee.

SAURDAY, November 23, a dollar excursion to Harrisburg. Train leaves Gettysburg 9:45, Biglerville 9:57; Bendersville 10:03. Returning leaves Harrisburg 11:00. Football, Gettysburg vs Bucknell at 3:00, Island Park. Advertisement.

Gettysburg - Business - Directory

Where to buy the things you need.

Advertisement.

MARTIN WINTER INSURANCE and REAL ESTATE YOHE'S BAKERY Bread, Cakes and Confectionery Soda Water Wonders for a Dime, positively all the time at TRIMMER'S 5 and 10 cent Store Stop at the CITY HOTEL P. M. BRUNER, Prop. C. C. BREAM Farming Implements Buggies and Harness G. C. FISSEL Life, Accident, Automobile and Fire Insurance. SPECIAL while they last, 25c steel pen knife for 10 cents. GETTYSBURG 5 and 10c STORE. No. 6, Baltimore St.	W. H. TIPTON PHOTOGRAPHER Gettysburg Souvenirs THE DRUG SHOP H. C. LANDAU Opposite Eagle Hotel H. B. BENDER FUNERAL DIRECTOR Telephone calls promptly answered day or night. Phone No. House 153 W " No. Store 97 W. SPANGLER'S MUSIC HOUSE for Pianos and Musical Instruments Sheet Music Phonograph Records Dougherty & Hartley INSURANCE FIRE and ACCIDENT C. A. BLOCHEP Centre Square Watches, Jewelry, Repairs Souvenirs. CHAS. S. MUMPE Fire Proof Storage Warehouse for Furniture and Household Goods stored for any length of time.	T. P. TURNER Another reduction in price of LACO wire drawn Tungsten Lamps. No better lamp made. GEORGE W. REICHEL Leading Butcher 29 Baltimore Street. RAYMOND'S AUTO KITCHEN A la Carte Service At any time Regular Dinner 2 to 1 Hotel Gettysburg LIVERY Holtzworth & Hoffman, Prop's. First Class Guides and Teams for the Battlefield. BIGGAN'S CAFE Successor to J. N. Shultz Meals at all hours Oysters a specialty Choice Wines, Liquors and Beers J. F. Biggan, Prop. McILHENNY BROS. Dealers in Cement, Grain, Flour, Feed, Hay and Coal Telephone 49 W. Have your Watches, Clocks and Jewelry repaired by Penrose Myers, Jeweler, Baltimore Street, Gettysburg.
--	--	---

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

[From a series of elaborate chemical tests.]

Comparative digestibility of food made with different baking powders.

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of two kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder:

99 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 Per Cent. Digested

Royal Baking Powder raised food is shown to be of greatly superior digestibility and healthfulness.

The Great Annual SHOP EARLY Christmas Marathon

—Chaplin in Kansas City Star.

Getting Even With "Greatness." "It is my delight to meet a Great Man," grimly said the Old Coder. "I extract a deal of gloom from having a paunchy, self-important, ultra-inflated, prominent citizen in a fancy waistcoat announce to the Personage: 'Oh, Senator Humshak, permit me to present to you Mr.—er—Hawhum!' Then, as the Presence graciously grasps my hand with the clinging clutch of a cuttlefish and unctuously remarks that he is glad to see me, I like to note how it seems to galvanize him into new life and causes him to submit me to instant and keen scrutiny, to have me innocently inquire: 'What is the name, please?'"

Bought and Paid For. "You say this is worth $5," said the wary customer. "Now, do you guarantee that I'm getting $5 worth of value for my money?" "Five dollars' worth of value!" flashed the bright young clerk. "Why, mister, for every one of them things we turn out there's four middlemen, seventy-eight drummers, five banks, two railroad pools, eighteen advertising agencies, seven lawyers and 842 billboards all running up expense accounts and adding value to that there article so fast that the company's practically giving you the 34 cents spent on patent royalties, shop upkeep, raw material and labor."—Puck.

DRINK HABIT RELIABLE HOME TREATMENT

The ORRINE treatment for the Drink Habit can be used with absolute confidence. It destroys all desire for whiskey, beer or other alcoholic stimulants. Thousands have successfully used it and have been restored to lives of sobriety and usefulness. Can be given secretly.

ORRINE is prepared in two forms: No. 1, secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink; ORRINE No. 2, in pill form, is for those who desire to take voluntary treatment.

If you fail to get results from ORRINE after a trial your money will be refunded. Costs only $1.00 per box. Ask for free booklet telling all about ORRINE.

C. W. BEALES, Baltimore St., Gettysburg, Pa.

Advertisement.

RESIDENCE and ORCHARD FOR SALE

The undersigned intending to move to Gettysburg will sell his residence near Cashtown.

Large house 18x39 with an addition 16x18, containing 8 large rooms. The interior newly plastered, painted and papered. New five foot wire fence around entire property. Place contains 1 acre and 25 perches. Nice lawn, cement walks, etc. Fine large frame bank barn 27x50. Buggy house, chicken house, wood shed, hog pen, etc. Buildings in excellent repair. Land in high state of cultivation. Fruit of every description in abundance. Two wells of water. One at the kitchen door.

Also, ORCHARD, containing 7 acres and 92 perches with about 65 large bearing apple trees, 85 young trees and 200 peach trees. Good fruit soil. This is a good location for a man with two horses, as there is a large amount of good farming land in this section that would be given to him to farm on the shares. Will sell together or separate. This is a bargain. Call on or address

C. A. HEIGES, Cashtown, Pa.

DR. ALEXIS CARREL.

Famous Scientist Who Won Nobel Prize For Medical Research.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

Dr. Carrel, who is attached to the Rockefeller Institute, New York, has made wonderful discoveries in maintaining life in tissues. He is the most noted physician of the hour in America.

ALCOHOLIC HELD AS BOY'S SLAYER

Arrested at Whiting, N. J., and Held For Buffalo Police.

Toms River, N. J., Nov. 20. — J. Frank Hickey was arrested at Whiting, N. J., in connection with the death of Joseph Joseph, of Lackawanna, N. Y., and brought to the jail here. Hickey is held pending advices from Buffalo.

Hickey was found by the sheriff at a colony for alcoholics, where he arrived on Tuesday or Wednesday of last week. He had been a patient there before, according to the authorities.

He expressed surprise at his arrest and was not questioned in detail. Although still protesting his innocence, Hickey said that he was willing to waive extradition and go to Buffalo at once.

The Lackawanna police requested the arrest of Hickey because of an alleged similarity in the handwriting of a letter dated New York city, mailed at Whiting, N. J., and alleged to have been written by Hickey, and the handwriting of the author of the post cards recently received by them. Hickey admits as well as Lackawanna several weeks ago.

CHINA DEFIES RUSSIA

Large Army Is Ordered to Frontier of Mongolia.

London, Nov. 20.—Forty-five thousand troops belonging to the Northern Chinese army have been placed under orders to proceed to the frontier of Mongolia, whose independence was recently recognized and guaranteed by Russia.

The military orders, according to a dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, followed a meeting of 110 Mongol princes and chieftains in Peking. They decided to repudiate absolutely the convention signed by Russia and Mongolia at Urga, the Mongolian capital, and resolved to ask President Yuan Shi Kai to afford military protection to those Mongolians willing to join the Chinese republic.

Rebels Kill Ten on Train.

Mexico City, Mex., Nov. 20.—Zapata rebels held up a train between Cuernavaca and this city and shot the engineer and nine passengers to death. They then fled to the hills. The train is heavily guarded by federal troops and the train was flagged by a rebel wearing a government uniform to divert suspicion.

John R. Fanshawe Dead. Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—John R. Fanshawe, for years secretary of the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, died at his home at Plymouth Meeting, near here.

WEATHER EVERYWHERE.

Observations of United States weather bureaus taken at 8 p. m. yesterday follow.

	Temp.	Weather.
Albany.....	49	Clear.
Atlantic City..	52	Clear.
Boston.....	42	Clear.
Buffalo.....	48	Clear.
Chicago.....	56	Clear.
New Orleans...	60	Cloudy.
New York.....	46	Clear.
Philadelphia...	48	Clear.
St. Louis.....	64	Clear.
Washington....	50	Cloudy.

The Weather. Fair today and tomorrow; southwest winds.

FOR SALE Barred Plymouth Rock Cockerels.

Pittsfield strain, $1 to $1.50 each.

J. I. HERETER, Route 4, Gettysburg, Pa.

MANIAC HOLDS UP POLICE STATION

Threatens to Blow Up Building With Dynamite.

THE PRISONERS TAKEN OUT

Holds Out Against Police Officials For Over an Hour, Until Felled by Blow From Behind.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 20. — Grotesquely masked in a false face that gave him the appearance of a demon and carrying an internal machine containing forty sticks of dynamite, a bottle of nitro-glycerine and a loaded revolver, Albert Davis, of Long Beach, entered the central police station, terrorized the station force for more than an hour, caused the hasty removal of prisoners in the city jail, and drew to the scene thousands who packed the roped off streets in dense masses, momentarily expecting the police station to be blown to atoms.

And the demented man was determined. During the hour he sat in the office of C. E. Sebastian, chief of police, a finger rested constantly on the trigger of the machine. During the tense wait a plan was evolved.

Davis had demanded that Paul Shoup, president of the Pacific Electric company, be brought in, as he intended to "blow him to hell." As he waited patiently he was engaged in conversation by C. E. Snively and Detective James Fitzgerald. As they talked Detective James Hosick and Samuel Browne opened the door behind the man, stepped noiselessly within striking distance, and as Hosick struck Davis with his club Browne seized the infernal machine.

Quick as they were, Davis pressed the trigger and the hissing of a sputtering fuse showed that the machine was working. Browne ran into the street, dashed it to the pavement and stamped the mechanism to pieces before it could complete its work.

Davis was taken into the receiving hospital, where, after regaining consciousness he sullenly refused to talk. The police say he was a member of the I. W. W.

Davis walked quietly into police headquarters. He wore a yellow mask that covered his entire head. Through green goggles, sewed into the yellow material, cunning eyes peered. His arms were bared, and his hands, seared to the wrists with an application of oil, were inserted in the machine. He announced his intention of blowing up the building, but wanted Shoup present when the infernal machine was touched off. He ordered the police to get Shoup, and there was a hasty exit of police, reporters and marauders from the building—all except those in upon the capture.

While Davis sat crouched over his machine a council of war was being held among the police officers outside. The dynamite was in plain sight of the men. So were the guns, and so, too, were the man's hands tied fast to the trigger.

Davis' left hand was passed through a noose that encircled his wrist. This noose was a bit of rope that led to the trigger. It was a cunningly devised contrivance designed to set off the fuse by a sudden jerk, whether he made it voluntarily or had the arm been jerked.

Chief of Police Sebastian ordered the prisoners removed from the jail. There were more than seventy-five of them, and they were marched out quietly, while outside the officers had commandeered a street car and herded the prisoners into it. None escaped.

Davis' defeat was made possible by his mask. This not only restricted his range of vision, but it deafened his ears to the approach of the officers from behind.

As Davis appeared at the station house he had a most terrifying aspect. His head was incased in a large yellow mask, not unlike the helmet of a deep sea diver. The eye holes were long and covered with green celluloid. A large amount of black hair was fastened to the outside of the mask, making him appear like a demon.

Costly Fire in Centralia, Pa.

Centralia, Pa., Nov. 2.—Almost an entire block in this Columbia county town was destroyed by fire, causing a loss estimated at $60,000. The First National bank, five double dwellings, Falumbo's grocery, Albert Ball's ice cream and confectionery store, Charles Meehan's saloon, O'Connor's variety store and John Tanter's wholesale liquor store were almost completely destroyed. The fire started in the grocery store.

Bank Robbers Awed Crowd.

Bowling Green, O., Nov. 20. — With the fifth explosion yegmen succeeded in blowing the safe in the Munn bank at Portage, this county, and escaped with $4000 in money. Armed confederates stood guard outside the bank building and warned citizens attracted by the explosion to keep a safe distance under penalty of being shot.

One Johnson Case Dismissed.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—A charge of abduction against Jack Johnson, negro pugilist, was dismissed before Municipal Judge Hopkins because of the inability of the prosecution to prove that Lucile Cameron, the white girl whose association with Johnson led to his arrest, had been abducted by him.

NOTICE

Shell oysters at 50 and 60 cts. per quart, also at 65 cts. per peck. Fried oysters 30 per dozen, delivered at your house. Home made ice cream, pies and cakes.

EVANS' RESTAURANT, 256 S. Washington St. United Phone 143 w.

VISITS BRITISH GOVERNOR

Governor Wilson Calls on Officials at Hamilton, Bermuda.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 20.—Governor Wilson visited Governor Sir George Bullock at Mount Langton, the governor's house.

The American president-elect went to the official residence in the carriage of the governor of Bermuda. Secret Service Officer Dick Taylor and one soldier were the only persons with Governor Wilson, although there were others at the gate to meet him. The governor general had all the British army officers in Hamilton and their wives to tea to meet the president-elect.

President-elect Wilson also visited Mrs. Russell Hastings, the widow of a Civil War general, who is an old friend of the Wilson family.

Sir George Bullock will not return Governor Wilson's call, as the latter is not yet an American federal official, but he may invite President-elect and Mrs. Wilson and their daughters to a social function.

WILSON AND BRYAN TO CONFER IN BERMUDA

Believed Nebraskan Will be Offered Portfolio of State.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Democrats in Washington were greatly interested in the news from Bermuda that William J. Bryan has been invited by President-elect Wilson to confer with him there.

This indicates in their opinion that Mr. Bryan is to be a factor in setting up the machinery for the new Democratic administration.

These politicians recalled that four years ago President-elect Taft announced that Philander C. Knox would be secretary of state in the new administration before the full cabinet list was announced, and then invited Mr. Knox to advise with him in building his cabinet.

Democrats were wondering whether Mr. Bryan was to play the same role in the Wilson administration that Secretary Knox played in the Taft administration.

All the information that has come to Washington recently has given Democratic statesmen the impression that William J. Bryan will have the privilege of accepting or declining the portfolio of state. The only question discussed in Washington is whether Mr. Bryan will accept or decline.

There was a persistent rumor among senators and representatives of the Democratic faith that one cabinet post had been settled. It was said that United States Senator Gardiner, of Maine, would surely be secretary of agriculture.

TWO BANDITS HOLD UP TRAIN

Masked Men Rob Passengers and Guard Doors Till They Reach Ottumwa, Ia.

Ottumwa, Ia., Nov. 20.—Two masked men held up passenger train No. 12, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway between Mystic and Ottumwa and robbed two passengers and two employees of about $350.

A young gave up $80 in cash and a diamond ring valued at $150, and J. G. Zook, his companion, was robbed of $72.35.

The robbers boarded the train just as it was leaving Mystic, thirty miles south of Ottumwa. As the porter, J. Robinson, was closing the vestibule doors of the observation car a revolver was pointed at his head and he was robbed of $5.30. The porter was then compelled to lead the way through the car. The first passengers met were Young and Zook. In the sleeping car the Pullman conductor, Davis, gave up $25.50 and a diamond stud.

For the rest of the ride into Ottumwa the robbers were on the platforms of the observation and sleeping cars, holding off the passengers in each car and making their escape when the train reduced speed at Ottumwa.

The police and a sheriff's posse, with bloodhounds, are searching for the robbers. Four suspects have been arrested.

34,000,000 Documents Mailed Farmers. Washington, Nov. 20.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson's annual report will show that in the last year the agricultural department mailed to farmers 34,000,000 pieces of printed matter.

GENERAL MARKETS

PHILADELPHIA — FLOUR quiet; winter clear, $4.45; city mills fancy, $5.25 to $5.50.

RYE FLOUR quiet, at $3.85 to $4 per barrel.

WHEAT quiet; No. 2 red, 96 1/2¢ to 97¢.

CORN quiet; No. 2 yellow, 68¢ to 69¢.

OATS quiet; No. 2 white, 38 1/2¢ to 39¢; lower grades, 37¢.

POULTRY: Live heavy; hens, 12¢ to 14¢; old roosters, 11¢ to 12¢. Dressed firm; choice fowls, 16¢; old roosters, 12 1/2¢; turkeys, 24¢ to 26¢.

BUTTER steady; fancy creamery, 37¢ per lb.

EGGS steady; selected, 40¢ to 44¢; nearby, 37¢; western, 37¢.

POTATOES steady; 65¢ to 70¢ bush.

Live Stock Markets.

PITTSBURGH (Union Stock Yards) — CATTLE steady; choice, $9.25 to $9.50; prime, $8.50 to $9.10.

SHEEP steady; prime wethers, $4.25 to $4.40; culls and common, $2.50 to $3.00.

LAMBS, $4.50 to $7.25; veal calves, $1.00 to $1.75.

HOGS lower; prime heavies, $7.55 to $7.90; mediums and heavy Yorkers, $7.75 to $7.90; light Yorkers, $7.40 to $7.65; pigs, $6 to $7.25; roughs, $5.75 to $7.

FESTIVAL

The young men of Mrs. T. C. Hesson's organized bible class will hold a festival in the town hall of Arendtsville, December 7. Home made candy, ice cream, chicken corn soup, for sale.

Everybody Invited.

NO TRESPASSING

All persons are warned not to trespass on the premises of the undersigned with dog, gun or trap for the purpose of taking game in any manner; nor for fishing; or in any way injuring or destroying property. All persons violating the laws of the Commonwealth with regard to trespassing on lands of the undersigned will be dealt with under the provisions of the act of April 14, 1905.

Baily Farm, Route 12, Gettysburg, Walter C. Snyder.

J. W. Cook, Flora Dale, Pa.

John McCleaf (Daniel Fry Farm) Liberty township.

Robert K. Major, Straban township.

Mrs. M. L. Codori, Cumberland township.

The Heirs of Mrs. George Essick, Butler township.

The Misses Brame, R. D. Biglerville.

Mrs. Mary J. Weikert, Round Top, R. 2, Gettysburg.

Frank and John Garretson, Menallen township.

Eli P. Garretson, Butler township.

William Coshun, R. 9, Gettysburg, Straban township.

N. J. Shank, Route 3, Biglerville.

D. J. Riele, Route 12, Gettysburg, Cumberland Twp.

John D. Riley, Route 12, Gettysburg, Cumberland Twp.

Levi Crum, R. 2, Biglerville, Pa.

Gettysburg Poultry Farm, (P. B. Twisden,) R. 2, Gettysburg, Pa.

W. H. Johns, Cumberland township.

Charles M. Schwartz, Mt. Joy township.

C. B. Stank, Route 7, Gettysburg.

Meivin O. Deardorff, R. 1, Biglerville, Butler Township.

H. W. Lightner & Bro., Hamiltonban Township.

John S. Snyder, R. 10, Gettysburg, Pa.

C. R. Snyder, R. 10, Gettysburg, Pa.

Jonas Wolf (A. S. Mill's farm) Mt. Pleasant twp., G'b'g, R. 8.

Mrs. J. E. Hughes, Cumberland township.

D. B. Wineman, Cumberland township, R. 12, Gettysburg.

Martin Winter, Cumberland township and Gettysburg.

Rufus Lawver, Butler township.

J. Edward Lawver, R. 2, Biglerville.

H. M. Sneringer, near Bonneville.

Deardorff Bros., Franklin township.

Harry E. Shriver, Butler township, R. 6, Gettysburg.

J. C. Coulson, Butler township, R. 6, Gettysburg.

E. J. Strausbaugh, Hamiltonban township.

Henry H. Hart, Butler township, R. 6, Gettysburg.

Allen S. Redding, (Robert Bream Farm) Cumberland twp.

Elias Wolford, Mt. Pleasant twp.

C. E. Tawney, Mt. Pleasant twp.

W. J. Beamer, Mt. Pleasant and Straban Twps.

Edward A. Scott, Freedom Twp. R. 4, Gettysburg.

W. S. Spangler, route 4, Gettysburg.

Frank L. Mumper, route 1, Gettysburg.

Jacob Hoke, (Daniel Snyder Farm) Straban township.

D. L. Jacobs, Butler township.

John V. Eiker, Cumberland township.

J. E. Jacobs (S. S. Kelly Farm) Cumberland township.

W. G. Durbanow, Cumberland township.

R. C. Witherow, Cumberland township.

J. I. Hereter, route 4, Gettysburg.

Geo. W. Wolf, Cumberland township, route 3, Gettysburg.

L. A. Sheets, Table Rock, Pa.

Chas. Wagoner, (Dr. W. H. O'Neal Farm) Hamiltonban twp.

G. A. Herring, route 1, Orrtanna.

F. L. Kime, Butler Township.

George W. Elden, Menallen twp.

J. B. Hollebaugh, route 6, Butler twp.

Paul S. Reaver, Freedom township.

C. S. Griest Sons, Butler township.

W. W. Scott, route 3, Gettysburg, Freedom township.

W. W. Miller, route 9, Gettysburg, Pa.

H. D. Sanders, (Mizell Farm) route 7, Gettysburg.

Mrs. John Allison, Butler township.

John C. Study (W. J. Swope Farm) Mt. Pleasant township.

Harry C. Fitzer, route 2, Gettysburg, Menallen township.

J. C. Walter, Butler township.

Amos Zepp, (Samuel Vaughn Farm) Cumberland township.

George G. Griffin, route 9, Gettysburg.

Samuel Robinson, route 1 Gettysburg, Cumberland township.

J. H. Kuhn, Gettysburg route 2, Mt. Joy township.

J. L. Toot, Gettysburg route 8, Straban township.

J. E. Shindledecker, (on S. G. Bigham's farm) Freedom twp.

C. H. Rummel (C. L. Osborn farm) Menallen township.

Allen I. Osborn, Butler township.

B. Deatrick, Hunterstown, Straban township.

Cecil E. Gulden, route 1, Fairfield.

John D. Moose, Butler township Biglerville, route 3.

W. F. Herbst, Orrtanna.

O. A. Logan, Gettysburg route 12, Straban township.

Albert Hollinger, Cumberland township.

Jos. B. Twining, Straban and Cumberland townships.

Mr. Rufus Diehl (David Minter Farm) Franklin township.

James M. Boyd, (J. L. Butt, Farm) R. 1, Orrtanna, Pa.

Edward L. Bowers, (G. W. Bowers Farm) route 1, Biglerville.

Robert H. Shull, (J. A. Shull Farm) Franklin township.

H. C. Hartzell, (J. A. Shull Farm) Franklin township.

Additional names 50 cents for entire season.

The Heart of Your Home

Have you realized the part a nice cosy living room plays in the happiness and success of the home, with large comfortable

ROCKERS

big roomy Table, Desk, Couch, Morris Chair

THE MYSTERY OF THE JADE SPEAR

"Yes, sir."

"Who else touched it?"

"No one that I know of, save the doctor."

"And yourself?"

"Of course, sir."

"Let me see your hands."

The sergeant thrust them out with a smile. They had plainly not been washed that afternoon.

"Thank you. Have you discovered the owner of this spear?"

"No, sir; I wish I could."

"Have you tried Cullen or Miss Sherrick?"

"No, sir," said the sergeant, looking blankly at the inspector.

Inspector Peace walked to the fireplace and touched the electric bell. In a few moments the door opened and a fat, red-faced man walked in. There is no mistaking the attitude and costume of a British butler.

"Colonel Bulstrode was a collector of jade?" said the inspector, in his most innocent manner.

"Yes, sir."

"I noticed the specimens in the hall. Well, Cullen, have you ever seen this spear amongst his trophies?"

The man glanced at it, and then shrunk back with a shiver.

"It's the thing that killed him," he stammered.

"Exactly. But you do not answer my question."

"There may have been one like it, but I couldn't swear to it, sir. The colonel would never have his collection touched. He or Miss Sherrick dusted 'em and arranged 'em themselves. He was always buying some new thing."

"Would Miss Sherrick know?"

"Very likely, sir."

"Thank you. That is all."

As the butler closed the door, the sergeant stepped up to the inspector and saluted.

"I should have noticed those collections," he said. "I have made a fool of myself, sir."

"A man who can make such an admission is never a fool, Sergeant Hales. And now kindly take me upstairs to the colonel's room. You can wait here, Mr. Phillips."

It was close upon the half-hour before they came back to me, and I had leisure enough for considering the problem. When Peace had walked into my rooms at lunch time, mentioning that he had a case with possibilities at Richmond, if I cared to come with him, I had never expected so strange a development. Nor, I fancy, had he.

This Colonel Bulstrode had served many years in India. Had the mysteries of the east followed him home to a London suburb? The gigantic force with which this spear had been thrown—there was something abnormal there, a something difficult to explain. Yet, after all, it might be a simple matter. Boyne was presumably a strong man, and the deadly fury that induces murder in a law-abiding citizen is akin to madness, giving almost a madman's strength. I was still puzzling over it when the door opened and the little inspector walked in.

"The story of Sergeant Hales?" I asked him. "Is he exaggerating—was the spear thrown with unusual violence?"

"Very unusual. It is the crime of a giant or—"

He did not finish his sentence, but stood tapping the table and staring out at the gold and green of a summer sunset. At last he turned to me with a slow inclination of the head.

"Hales is waiting," he said, "and we must get to work. The light will not last forever."

The sergeant led us over the lawn to the wilderness and through its paths to the wicket-gate. Showers in the early morning had turned the dust of the road into a grey mud that had dried under the afternoon sunshine. The surface was scored into a puzzle of diverging lines by the wheels of carts and carriages, cycles and motors. Yet Peace hunted it over even more closely than he had hunted the paths in the grounds. He was particularly anxious to know the position in which the body had lain, and finally the sergeant got down in the drying mud to show him.

Apparently the colonel had walked about ten yards from the gate when the spear struck him. He had fallen almost in the center of the road, which at that point was broad, with stretches of grass bordering it on either side. His revolver had not been fired, though he had been found with it in his hand.

We walked on down the road, Addington Peace leading, his eyes fixed on its surface, and the sergeant and I following behind. For myself, I had not the remotest idea of what he hoped to effect by this promenade, nor do I believe had the sergeant. We circled the outside of the gardens, the road finally curving to the left, and bringing us to the entrance-gates. Here we stopped at a word from the inspector. The little man himself walked on, and finally dropped on his knees close to the hedge. When he joined us again, it was with an expression of satisfaction. He beamed through the gates at the old elm avenue, that rustled sleepily in the gathering dusk.

"What a pretty place it is," he said. "Thank heaven that these old houses still find owners or tenants who dare to defy the jerry builder and all his works. Hello, and who may this be?"

He had turned to the foot of the horn. The motor was close upon us, for a steam-car moves in silence as compared to the busy hum of a petrol-driven machine. It stopped, and the chauffeur jumped down and ran to open the gates. Of the driver we could see nothing save a peaked cap, goggles, and a long white dust coat.

As it disappeared up the avenue towards the house I heard a faint bubble of laughter in my ear. I turned in surprise.

"Why, Peace?" I said, "what is the joke?"

"There is no joke, Mr. Phillips,"

he answered. "It was fate that laughed, not I."

There were moments when, to a man of ordinary curiosity, Inspector Addington Peace was extremely irritating.

We walked up the avenue in silence. The motor was standing at the front door, the chauffeur, a bright-faced youngster, loitering beside it. Peace greeted him politely, entering at once into a dissertation upon greasy roads and the dangers of side-slips. Was there nothing that would prevent them? He had heard that there was a patent, consisting of small chains crossing the tires, that was excellent.

"It's about the best of them, sir," said the lad. "Mr. Bulstrode uses it on this car sometimes."

"So this is Mr. Anstruther Bulstrode's car?"

"Yes, sir. He was the brother of the poor gentleman inside."

"The roads are fairly dry now," continued Peace, "but if you had been out this morning—"

"Oh, Mr. Bulstrode had the chains on this morning," he interrupted. "I did not go with him, but when he came back he told me he was glad to have them, for the roads were very bad."

"And Mr. Bulstrode thought the roads were dry enough this afternoon to do without them?"

"Yes. He told me to take them off. He—"

"I am glad to see the police interest themselves in motoring," broke in a high-pitched voice behind us. "I was under the impression—false as I now observe—that they were confirmed enemies to the sport."

A yellow husk of a man was Mr. Anstruther Bulstrode, as I knew this stranger must be. Years under the Indian sun had sucked the English blood from his veins and burnt their own dull color into his cheeks. He stood on the step of the porch with his hands behind him and his little eyes glaring at the inspector like a pair of black beads. His mouth, twitching viciously under his straggly mustache, proved that the poor colonel had not been the only member of the Bulstrode family possessed of an evil temper. Over his shoulder I could see Miss Sherrick's white face watching us. And now she stepped forward to explain.

"This is Inspector Peace, uncle," she said nervously.

"I know, my dear, I know. Do you think I can't tell a detective when I see him? So you have caught your man, eh, Inspector?"

"If you will come into the library, Mr. Bulstrode, I will answer what questions I may."

It was now close upon eight o'clock and the pleasant twilight of the long summer evening was drawing into heavier shadows. There was no gas in the old house, but Miss Sherrick ordered lamps to be brought in. We all seated ourselves about the big fireplace save Peace, who stood on the hearth-rug with his back to the flowers that filled the empty grate. The shaded lamp dealt dusky with our faces. There was a strain, a vague anxiety in the air that kept me leaning forward in my chair, nervous and watchful.

"Well, Inspector," repeated Mr. Bulstrode, "what is your news?"

For answer, Peace walked up to the lamp and laid beneath it the jade spearhead, now cleaned and polished, with its four inches of broken shaft.

"Do you recognize that, Miss Sherrick?"

The girl bent over it without alarm. She had no idea what part it had played in that grim tragedy.

"Certainly," she said. "It is a unique piece of stone, and Colonel Bulstrode prized it more than anything else in his collection. I know it was hanging in the hall this morning, for I was at work with a duster. How did the shaft come to be broken?"

"An accident, Miss Sherrick."

"My poor uncle would have been dreadfully angry about it, and so must you be, Uncle Anstruther, for I understand you claim it to be yours."

"We did not come here, Mary, to talk about jade collecting," snarled

the old planter.

"But does the spear really belong to you, Mr. Bulstrode?" asked the inspector, blandly.

The man stiffened himself in his chair with his fists clenched on his knees, and his beady eyes staring straight before him.

"That spear is mine, Mr. Detective. My brother having practically stolen it from me, threatened me with personal violence if I attempted to reclaim it. It was the most perfect piece of workmanship in my own collection. I shall take legal steps to claim my rightful property in due course."

"Your brother seems to have acted in a very high-handed manner with you, Mr. Bulstrode. I wonder that you did not walk in here one day and recover your property."

The planter rose with a twisted laugh.

"I'm not a housebreaker," he said. "Also, I must point out that I don't intend to sit here all night. Can I do anything more for you, Inspector?"

"No, Mr. Bulstrode."

"Or for you, Mary?"

"No, uncle. I have my maid, and there is Agatha, the housekeeper."

"So that's all right. Let us thank Heaven the criminal is no longer at large. It didn't take long for our excellent police to make up their minds. Gad! they're clever beggars. They had their hands on him smart enough. It is a pleasure to meet such a man as you, Inspector Addington Peace. A celebrity, by thunder, that's what I call you."

He burst out into a peal of high-pitched laughter, rocking to and fro and clutching the edge of the table with his hand. Then he bowed to us all very low and swaggered out of the room. Peace stepped out after him, and I followed at his heels.

A lamp hung in the roof of the porch and Mr. Bulstrode stopped beneath it. In its light he looked more fierce and old and yellow than ever.

"It is no good, Mr. Bulstrode," said Addington Peace.

"Exactly, can I give you a lift?" he said quite quietly as he pointed to the car.

"It would certainly be most convenient."

Mr. Bulstrode laughed again, leaning back at me over his shoulder, as he answered. "It was fate that laughed, not I."

There were moments when, to a man of ordinary curiosity, Inspector Addington Peace was extremely irritating.

We walked up the avenue in silence. The motor was standing at the front door, the chauffeur, a bright-faced youngster, loitering beside it. Peace greeted him politely, entering at once into a dissertation upon greasy roads and the dangers of side-slips. Was there nothing that would prevent them? He had heard that there was a patent, consisting of small chains crossing the tires, that was excellent.

"It's about the best of them, sir," said the lad. "Mr. Bulstrode uses it on this car sometimes."

"So this is Mr. Anstruther Bulstrode's car?"

"Yes, sir. He was the brother of the poor gentleman inside."

"The roads are fairly dry now," continued Peace, "but if you had been out this morning—"

"Oh, Mr. Bulstrode had the chains on this morning," he interrupted. "I did not go with him, but when he came back he told me he was glad to have them, for the roads were very bad."

"And Mr. Bulstrode thought the roads were dry enough this afternoon to do without them?"

"Yes. He told me to take them off. He—"

"I am glad to see the police interest themselves in motoring," broke in a high-pitched voice behind us. "I was under the impression—false as I now observe—that they were confirmed enemies to the sport."

A yellow husk of a man was Mr. Anstruther Bulstrode, as I knew this stranger must be. Years under the Indian sun had sucked the English blood from his veins and burnt their own dull color into his cheeks. He stood on the step of the porch with his hands behind him and his little eyes glaring at the inspector like a pair of black beads. His mouth, twitching viciously under his straggly mustache, proved that the poor colonel had not been the only member of the Bulstrode family possessed of an evil temper. Over his shoulder I could see Miss Sherrick's white face watching us. And now she stepped forward to explain.

"This is Inspector Peace, uncle," she said nervously.

"I know, my dear, I know. Do you think I can't tell a detective when I see him? So you have caught your man, eh, Inspector?"

"If you will come into the library, Mr. Bulstrode, I will answer what questions I may."

It was now close upon eight o'clock and the pleasant twilight of the long summer evening was drawing into heavier shadows. There was no gas in the old house, but Miss Sherrick ordered lamps to be brought in. We all seated ourselves about the big fireplace save Peace, who stood on the hearth-rug with his back to the flowers that filled the empty grate. The shaded lamp dealt dusky with our faces. There was a strain, a vague anxiety in the air that kept me leaning forward in my chair, nervous and watchful.

"Well, Inspector," repeated Mr. Bulstrode, "what is your news?"

For answer, Peace walked up to the lamp and laid beneath it the jade spearhead, now cleaned and polished, with its four inches of broken shaft.

"Do you recognize that, Miss Sherrick?"

The girl bent over it without alarm. She had no idea what part it had played in that grim tragedy.

"Certainly," she said. "It is a unique piece of stone, and Colonel Bulstrode prized it more than anything else in his collection. I know it was hanging in the hall this morning, for I was at work with a duster. How did the shaft come to be broken?"

"An accident, Miss Sherrick."

"My poor uncle would have been dreadfully angry about it, and so must you be, Uncle Anstruther, for I understand you claim it to be yours."

"We did not come here, Mary, to talk about jade collecting," snarled

the old planter.

"But does the spear really belong to you, Mr. Bulstrode?" asked the inspector, blandly.

The man stiffened himself in his chair with his fists clenched on his knees, and his beady eyes staring straight before him.

"That spear is mine, Mr. Detective. My brother having practically stolen it from me, threatened me with personal violence if I attempted to reclaim it. It was the most perfect piece of workmanship in my own collection. I shall take legal steps to claim my rightful property in due course."

"Your brother seems to have acted in a very high-handed manner with you, Mr. Bulstrode. I wonder that you did not walk in here one day and recover your property."

The planter rose with a twisted laugh.

"I'm not a housebreaker," he said. "Also, I must point out that I don't intend to sit here all night. Can I do anything more for you, Inspector?"

"No, Mr. Bulstrode."

"Or for you, Mary?"

"No, uncle. I have my maid, and there is Agatha, the housekeeper."

"So that's all right. Let us thank Heaven the criminal is no longer at large. It didn't take long for our excellent police to make up their minds. Gad! they're clever beggars. They had their hands on him smart enough. It is a pleasure to meet such a man as you, Inspector Addington Peace. A celebrity, by thunder, that's what I call you."

He burst out into a peal of high-pitched laughter, rocking to and fro and clutching the edge of the table with his hand. Then he bowed to us all very low and swaggered out of the room. Peace stepped out after him, and I followed at his heels.

A lamp hung in the roof of the porch and Mr. Bulstrode stopped beneath it. In its light he looked more fierce and old and yellow than ever.

"It is no good, Mr. Bulstrode," said Addington Peace.

"Exactly, can I give you a lift?" he said quite quietly as he pointed to the car.

"It would certainly be most convenient."

Mr. Bulstrode laughed again, leaning back at me over his shoulder, as he answered. "It was fate that laughed, not I."

There were moments when, to a man of ordinary curiosity, Inspector Addington Peace was extremely irritating.

We walked up the avenue in silence. The motor was standing at the front door, the chauffeur, a bright-faced youngster, loitering beside it. Peace greeted him politely, entering at once into a dissertation upon greasy roads and the dangers of side-slips. Was there nothing that would prevent them? He had heard that there was a patent, consisting of small chains crossing the tires, that was excellent.

"It's about the best of them, sir," said the lad. "Mr. Bulstrode uses it on this car sometimes."

"So this is Mr. Anstruther Bulstrode's car?"

"Yes, sir. He was the brother of the poor gentleman inside."

"The roads are fairly dry now," continued Peace, "but if you had been out this morning—"

"Oh, Mr. Bulstrode had the chains on this morning," he interrupted. "I did not go with him, but when he came back he told me he was glad to have them, for the roads were very bad."

"And Mr. Bulstrode thought the roads were dry enough this afternoon to do without them?"

"Yes. He told me to take them off. He—"

"I am glad to see the police interest themselves in motoring," broke in a high-pitched voice behind us. "I was under the impression—false as I now observe—that they were confirmed enemies to the sport."

A yellow husk of a man was Mr. Anstruther Bulstrode, as I knew this stranger must be. Years under the Indian sun had sucked the English blood from his veins and burnt their own dull color into his cheeks. He stood on the step of the porch with his hands behind him and his little eyes glaring at the inspector like a pair of black beads. His mouth, twitching viciously under his straggly mustache, proved that the poor colonel had not been the only member of the Bulstrode family possessed of an evil temper. Over his shoulder I could see Miss Sherrick's white face watching us. And now she stepped forward to explain.

"This is Inspector Peace, uncle," she said nervously.

"I know, my dear, I know. Do you think I can't tell a detective when I see him? So you have caught your man, eh, Inspector?"

"If you will come into the library, Mr. Bulstrode, I will answer what questions I may."

It was now close upon eight o'clock and the pleasant twilight of the long summer evening was drawing into heavier shadows. There was no gas in the old house, but Miss Sherrick ordered lamps to be brought in. We all seated ourselves about the big fireplace save Peace, who stood on the hearth-rug with his back to the flowers that filled the empty grate. The shaded lamp dealt dusky with our faces. There was a strain, a vague anxiety in the air that kept me leaning forward in my chair, nervous and watchful.

"Well, Inspector," repeated Mr. Bulstrode, "what is your news?"

For answer, Peace walked up to the lamp and laid beneath it the jade spearhead, now cleaned and polished, with its four inches of broken shaft.

"Do you recognize that, Miss Sherrick?"

The girl bent over it without alarm. She had no idea what part it had played in that grim tragedy.

"Certainly," she said. "It is a unique piece of stone, and Colonel Bulstrode prized it more than anything else in his collection. I know it was hanging in the hall this morning, for I was at work with a duster. How did the shaft come to be broken?"

"An accident, Miss Sherrick."

"My poor uncle would have been dreadfully angry about it, and so must you be, Uncle Anstruther, for I understand you claim it to be yours."

"We did not come here, Mary, to talk about jade collecting," snarled

the old planter.

"But does the spear really belong to you, Mr. Bulstrode?" asked the inspector, blandly.

The man stiffened himself in his chair with his fists clenched on his knees, and his beady eyes staring straight before him.

"That spear is mine, Mr. Detective. My brother having practically stolen it from me, threatened me with personal violence if I attempted to reclaim it. It was the most perfect piece of workmanship in my own collection. I shall take legal steps to claim my rightful property in due course."

"Your brother seems to have acted in a very high-handed manner with you, Mr. Bulstrode. I wonder that you did not walk in here one day and recover your property."

The planter rose with a twisted laugh.

"I'm not a housebreaker," he said. "Also, I must point out that I don't intend to sit here all night. Can I do anything more for you, Inspector?"

"No, Mr. Bulstrode."

"Or for you, Mary?"

"No, uncle. I have my maid, and there is Agatha, the housekeeper."

"So that's all right. Let us thank Heaven the criminal is no longer at large. It didn't take long for our excellent police to make up their minds. Gad! they're clever beggars. They had their hands on him smart enough. It is a pleasure to meet such a man as you, Inspector Addington Peace. A celebrity, by thunder, that's what I call you."

He burst out into a peal of high-pitched laughter, rocking to and fro and clutching the edge of the table with his hand. Then he bowed to us all very low and swaggered out of the room. Peace stepped out after him, and I followed at his heels.

A lamp hung in the roof of the porch and Mr. Bulstrode stopped beneath it. In its light he looked more fierce and old and yellow than ever.

"It is no good, Mr. Bulstrode," said Addington Peace.

"Exactly, can I give you a lift?" he said quite quietly as he pointed to the car.

"It would certainly be most convenient."

Mr. Bulstrode laughed again, leaning back at me over his shoulder, as he answered. "It was fate that laughed, not I."

There were moments when, to a man of ordinary curiosity, Inspector Addington Peace was extremely irritating.

We walked up the avenue in silence. The motor was standing at the front door, the chauffeur, a bright-faced youngster, loitering beside it. Peace greeted him politely, entering at once into a dissertation upon greasy roads and the dangers of side-slips. Was there nothing that would prevent them? He had heard that there was a patent, consisting of small chains crossing the tires, that was excellent.

"It's about the best of them, sir," said the lad. "Mr. Bulstrode uses it on this car sometimes."

"So this is Mr. Anstruther Bulstrode's car?"

"Yes, sir. He was the brother of the poor gentleman inside."

"The roads are fairly dry now," continued Peace, "but if you had been out this morning—"

"Oh, Mr. Bulstrode had the chains on this morning," he interrupted. "I did not go with him, but when he came back he told me he was glad to have them, for the roads were very bad."

"And Mr. Bulstrode thought the roads were dry enough this afternoon to do without them?"

"Yes. He told me to take them off. He—"

"I am glad to see the police interest themselves in motoring," broke in a high-pitched voice behind us. "I was under the impression—false as I now observe—that they were confirmed enemies to the sport."

A yellow husk of a man was Mr. Anstruther Bulstrode, as I knew this stranger must be. Years under the Indian sun had sucked the English blood from his veins and burnt their own dull color into his cheeks. He stood on the step of the porch with his hands behind him and his little eyes glaring at the inspector like a pair of black beads. His mouth, twitching viciously under his straggly mustache, proved that the poor colonel had not been the only member of the Bulstrode family possessed of an evil temper. Over his shoulder I could see Miss Sherrick's white face watching us. And now she stepped forward to explain.

"This is Inspector Peace, uncle," she said nervously.

"I know, my dear, I know. Do you think I can't tell a detective when I see him? So you have caught your man, eh, Inspector?"

"If you will come into the library, Mr. Bulstrode, I will answer what questions I may."

It was now close upon eight o'clock and the pleasant twilight of the long summer evening was drawing into heavier shadows. There was no gas in the old house, but Miss Sherrick ordered lamps to be brought in. We all seated ourselves about the big fireplace save Peace, who stood on the hearth-rug with his back to the flowers that filled the empty grate. The shaded lamp dealt dusky with our faces. There was a strain, a vague anxiety in the air that kept me leaning forward in my chair, nervous and watchful.

"Well, Inspector," repeated Mr. Bulstrode, "what is your news?"

For answer, Peace walked up to the lamp and laid beneath it the jade spearhead, now cleaned and polished, with its four inches of broken shaft.

"Do you recognize that, Miss Sherrick?"

The girl bent over it without alarm. She had no idea what part it had played in that grim tragedy.

"Certainly," she said. "It is a unique piece of stone, and Colonel Bulstrode prized it more than anything else in his collection. I know it was hanging in the hall this morning, for I was at work with a duster. How did the shaft come to be broken?"

</